On March 5th of 2025, Gender Tech Initiative Uganda hosted a pre-event activity for International Women's Day. The event had 11 participants, all of which were women. The discussion of the event was on how the community can accelerate action for gender equality to fight online gender-based violence. GTI-U hosted this pre-event activity to create awareness within community members in line with what the theme was. In addition, another part of the pre-event was to do mobilization for international women's day.

Gender Tech Initiative Uganda is a non-profit organization dedicated to bridging the digital divide by empowering women, girls, and marginalized communities with digital literacy and safety skills. We envision a world where technology is inclusive, accessible, and transformative, enabling individuals to participate meaningfully in the digital economy and advocate for their rights.
